

SCCWRP Presentations in 1992-93

M. James Allen, Ph.D.

Regional Monitoring in Southern California. Department of Mechanical Engineering, California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, CA. April 1993.

Steven M. Bay

Progress and Pitfalls in the Use of Marine Toxicity Tests. Environmental Science and Engineering Program Seminar, University of California, Los Angeles, CA. November 1992.

Temporal Changes in Sediment Toxicity and Contamination in Santa Monica Bay, California. 13th Annual Meeting of the Society of Environmental Toxicology and Chemistry, Cincinnati, OH. November 1992.

Recent Research on the Responses of the Brittlestar Amphiodia Urtica to Contaminated Sediment. Hyperion Treatment Plant Seminar, Playa Del Rey, CA. March 1993.

Larry D. Cooper

Response of the Dover Sole Microstomus pacificus population to termination of sludge discharge in Santa Monica Bay. Annual Meeting of the Southern California Academy of Sciences, Long Beach, CA. May 1993.

Jeffrey N. Cross, Ph.D.

Urban Wastes in the Marine Environment. Young Scholars Ocean Science Institute, California State University, Long Beach, CA. July 1992.

Marine Pollution in Southern California. Graduate Center for Public Policy and Administration, California State University, Long Beach, CA. September 1992.

Marine Environmental Issues in the Southern California Bight. Interactions between Coastal Science and Policy: Problems and Opportunities, Ocean Studies Board, National Research Council, Irvine, CA. November 1992.

Monitoring in Santa Monica Bay. Management Advisory Committee, Santa Monica Bay Restoration Project, Los Angeles, CA. February 1993.

Effects of Contaminants in the Coastal Marine Environment. Department of Environmental Health, California State University, Long Beach, CA. March 1993.

Regional Marine Monitoring in the Southern California Bight. U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Ecological Monitoring and Assessment Program Workshop, Oakland, CA. April 1993.

Dario W. Diehl

Marine Pollution in Southern California. Southern California Society of Marine Aquarists, Fullerton, CA. April 1993.

Abundance Changes from Trawl-Caught Fishes off Point Loma, CA. Annual Meeting of the Southern California Academy of Sciences, Long Beach, CA. June 1993.